Introduction

Soliton-Music is a music service available across different devices and platforms. Users can tap into its vast music collection and enjoy over 1.7 million Chinese, Japanese, Korean and western songs by streaming. It also has inbuilt social networking functions, allowing music lovers to share their favorite music with families and friends.

The Challenge

Quality of services is always the top priority of Soliton-Music. Its users cannot tolerate downtime nor high latency as it affects the quality of the service and their enjoyment of the music. Before choosing Fengqi Asia, Soliton-Music used the service offered by an international cloud service provider in Hong Kong for its 7 x 24 support. However, the support was not as good as expected.

The Solution

Fengqi Asia was able to make latency a non-issue for Soliton-Music with a few measures. First, taking advantage of Joyent Technology's superior I/O & CPU performance, Fengqi Asia offered the capacity to handle 10x more visitors compared to other solutions. Second, Fengqi Asia's POP coverage in China was extensive. Third, its data centers in Beijing and Shanghai were armed with Multi-BGP lines to all major telcos in China, ensuring fast data access to inside or outside China.

Fengqi Asia's professional team managed to seamlessly migrate Soliton-Music to a new cloud infrastructure within a very short timeframe so that no service interruption occurred. Soliton-Music was also very pleased with the support quality and response time.
